Features

- Single high-output LED provides even, white lighting throughout your field of vision with no blank spots in the beam; advanced optics optimize the reach of the beam to 60m
- Spring-assisted, flip-up diffuser lens changes beam shape from spotlight to area light for different conditions
- Red LED positioned to the side of the white LED lets you preserve your night vision or use the headlamp as a blinking light to increase your visibility in urban environments
- Push-button switch easily changes between 3 white lighting modes (high, low and flashing) so you can choose the appropriate light level for the task at hand
- Also change between 2 red lighting modes (continuous and blinking)
- White light on low level provides up to 160 hrs. of use and high level up to 80 hrs.; red continuous provides up to 100 hrs.
- Hold down the on/off switch to change between red and white lighting modes
- Battery charge indicator light comes on when the beam distance diminishes to 5m and when there is only 50% battery life remaining for proximity lighting
- Provides IPX4 water resistance for reliability in inclement weather
- Headlamp tilts to point light where you need it; adjustable elastic headband holds the light securely in place
- Compatible with the Petzl Adapt Tikka 2 system (not included), which allows you to quickly and easily attach the light in a variety of places
- Battery compartment is hinged to allow simple access; compartment closes easily and securely
- Runs on 3 AAA alkaline batteries, included; Tikka XP 2 is compatible with lithium batteries, which are lighter than alkaline batteries and perform well in cold temperatures

I bought this on a whim; actually wanted to use my REI 20% coupon so I chose this. I was planning to use it to walk at night. This week we had a snowstorm and the lights went out for 2 days. This little headlamp was a godsend. I put it on and could navigate my home, sat down in a pile of blankets and read an entire book with no lights, no heat. I read the entire book thanks to this little Petzl, my new best friend. The lighting was fantastic and it is adjustable, just way cool. I had forgotten I had it until my sister mentioned don't you have a headlamp; well, ding-dong, I do! My two flashlights failed but Petzl did not.

Another winner from Petzl

Petzl makes great products, and this little headlamp is another beauty! The long battery life and the red LED (to keep you from frying your night vision by using white light) are definite pluses, but the thing that really surprised me was the light diffuser. It does about the best job I've seen of taking a focused beam and making it into an area light. This is now my main backpacking light for hands free use. The strobe setting are also a nice plus for emergencies. About the only thing I'd like to see would be one more lower power setting, and the addition of a green LED, but those are rather minor quibbles. Overall, this is really an exceptional little torch!

Awesome

I've never had a headlamp before, and that's the only reason I gave this one 4 stars instead of 5. I have nothing to compare it to. I didn't know what to expect for my first headlamp. I imagined that it would want to keep sliding down my forehead, and I almost went with one that had the extra strap that goes over your head just to avoid that possibility. I couldn't be happier with this light though. It doesn't slip at all, it's bright, and it's comfortable. There's no pad or anything between the plastic body of the lamp and your head - there's just the strap. Quite frankly, I don't understand how it doesn't hurt or become irritating, but it doesn't. I could wear this thing all day.

Nice Light Weight Headlamp

This is a nice light weight hiking/camping headlamp. I like the fact that it has a built-in diffuser. It also has strobe mode as well as a red light.

The max output is plenty bright. It only has one other brightness setting and that is not low enough for many uses.

There is also glare due to the translucent bottom of the headlamp and due to the tab used to raise and low the diffuser.

The white light flashes for a moment before going into the red mode which kills your night vision.

All-in-all it is a nice light weight headlamp.

Shockingly amazing light!

This headlight is absolutely amazing! This is my first LED headlamp so I cannot compare this light to other headlamps. But! I am addicted to flashlights in general. This light out performs any [...] light in "effective/useful" light. It is also extremely light weight! I got the box in the mail, and though it was empty until I opened it up and saw the light sitting inside. I tried it once, and I am purchasing another headlamp for a friend now. Bottom line, I feel in love with this light and officially have a new standard for lighting! Thanks Petzl and REI! Aloha!

Absolutely the Real Deal

Absolutely comfortable! Great for night fishing, around the camp site, and for biking, hiking and anything else a person does as natural light fades into darkness. Great price for such a well made product! I will be purchasing a second one for my wife, and a few for my aged out foster kid program where we do outdoor adventure activities as they begin to attend college. Some of my clients are also marines dealing with PTSD, and they volunteer with my young adults (aged out kids) and they all want one too! Thanks Petzel for such a well made and functional product!

Flat out works

I love this light. I use it for riding a unicycle at night in complete darkness and the beam and the throw are perfect for riding at 8-10 mph. I never feel like I'm out running my light. On a unicycle you are always scanning ahead and back to right in front of your wheel so you know how to shift your weight. This Petzl handles that chore without feeling the need to switch modes or flip the diffuser in place. To me the spread of the light is just right from out far to in close and that's what was hard to find in a headlamp.

For the money this is a great light. Probably better than you need for chores around the house but for hiking/running speeds this light does the job. Low is perfect for walking which means killer battery life.

Bright but perhaps not water resistant

Nice headlamp, plenty bright and very versatile. I can't say that i have experienced any of the light leaking issues people complain about. But I did notice that the headlamp didn't perform well in the storm. It got somewhat dim very fast with and the battery low light started to flicker. The batteries were fairly new and I had no problem like that the next day. So I am still trying it figure out if it some rain got inside or perhaps the batteries did not perform in the cold. But aside of that, I am very pleased with the quality of the light.
